TRIED FOR MURDER.

The Prosecution of Father McFadden—Excitement Running High.

Special Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

UBLIN, Oct. 33.—The trial of Father McFadden and seventeen others for murder absorbs the attention of Ireland. Excitement runs high. The charge is regarded by the Nationalists as a piece of wanton political persecution which may have a serious result. Inspector Martin of the Gardai polles, it may be imagined, rode the bit on the head by the crowd while he was dragging Father McFadden into the precincts to arrest him under the crimes act. The other's back was turned to him at the time.

W. E. Gladstone. Brighton-bath. False reports are likely to divide their ranks and destroy their purposes. As usual when in a pinch, Mr. Gladstone is looked to for help. He did not intend to take the rest until next month, but in view of the struggle at Brighton he has concluded to speak next Wednesday, when there will be an authoritative announcement on the various questions which have arisen among the Liberals, and there is reason to expect an expression of new views on the subject of home rule in Ireland, although any definite announcement of the amended scheme may be postponed until the great meeting to be held in Manchester.

ough German Princesses have made no difficulty of this when the Russian throne was in question, still those who have contracted such marriages were not of the royal or imperial family. Russian opinion shows none of the liberation in this respect which has been everywhere in Greece. In the royal chapel at the palace at Athens, which in King George's reign has been devoted to the Lutheran ritual, which faith His Majesty has attached, there is still visible marks upon the wall of his for dedication to the Roman Catholic church in the days of King Otto. The mingling marriage of the Duke of Sparta, however, will lend the color of truth to the current report as it is rumored that Princess Sophia will wed him in the orthodox church, and it is noted by the PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Cabinet has expelled Léautaud, the Boulangerist deputy, from his position as an officer in the territorial army. His action is in consequence of a declaration made in a speech by Léautaud during the recent electoral campaign that he would not take the oath for France under the present Government.

A BIG FIGHT ON HAND.

Constituents of Kansas Congressmen After Their Political Scalps.

Senator Plumb on the State's Great Sugar Business.

Progress of the Industry—The Outlook for Next Year—A Larger Government Appropriation Probable—Disinfectants Banning—Lively Politics—The Wyandotte County Democratic Convention—The Crop Prospects—Rehabilitation at Work—An Extra Session of the Legislature Urged—Y. M. C. A. Convention—Kansas News.

OFKKA, Kan., Oct. 19.—The indications now are that several of the Kansas Congressmen will have a big fight on their hands when the time for holding the nominating convention comes, and it is quite probable that at least two or three will be retired to private life. A decided opposition has already developed in Congressman Anderson's district. He has served continuously for ten years and there are many in his district who think he should step down. It is claimed, also, that Mr. Anderson is not sound on the tariff question, because he declines to swallow the protective tariff doctrine with the avidity that is expected of a Republican Congressman. There are already several avowed candidates for his place, among them the Hon. F. B. Davis of Clay Center, Col. William Phillips of Salina, Col. N. B. Brown of Concordia and the Hon. J. E. Burton of Abilene. Congressman Peters, who represents a district of twenty-two counties, also has opposition. He has served six terms. A number of ambitious statesmen are at work and promise to have Mr. Peters' scalp. It is probable that Col. J. R. Hollowell of Wichita will be his principal opponent.

The Congressman from the Second District, known in Kansas as "Farmer" Funston, has made several unfortunate post-office appointments in the past six months, but will receive a great deal of difficulty in securing re-nomination. He has recently made a trip over the district for the purpose of pacifying the "kickers." There is nothing sure about Congressman Turner's re-nomination. Some of his constituents think he ought to have secured a larger share of the Congressional patronage. The coming campaign promises to be a very interesting one, and may result in the election of an entirely new delegation to Congress.

CAMPBELL AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL SERVICE.

Gen. A. M. Campbell, ex-Adjutant-General of Kansas, who was considered a strong candidate for the position of Commissioner of Agriculture, having been endorsed by many of the Republican leaders of the East, as well as the West, for the position, has written to friends in the city that he is out of the race and he will return from Washington the latter part of next week. He has received an authoritative source that Gen. Campbell will be given an important consular appointment.

A LARGE ACREAGE OF WHEAT.

The reports being received at the Agricultural Department from all sections of the State show that an increased acreage of fall wheat is being sown this year over last year. The condition of the ground for wheat sowing is reported good generally in the eastern part of the State, and in the western part of the State it has been dry, in many cases too dry to plow, and in consequence, wheat sowing has been somewhat retarded, but in all counties the planting is well advanced, and the acreage will be the largest ever known in this State.

The reports on the condition of stock are very favorable, with the exception of hog cholera, reported in a few counties. In most counties, stock of all kinds is free from disease, and is reported in fine condition.

Artisan wells are becoming quite numerous in Western Kansas, and in the past few months nine western counties have had wells and found a volume of the purest water obtainable to flow from great force. A charter has been filed with the Secretary of the Grant County Artesian Well Company, which proposes to immediately sink a well at Uyteness. The officers of the company are: J. H. Schell, President; Jacob Zimmer, Secretary, and E. Briggs, Treasurer.

TRUSTEES OF THE FARMERS' UNION.

George W. Glick, United States Pension Agent for the State, has been elected and succeeded by Bernard Kelley. The office of pension agent for the State of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, New Mexico. Mr. Glick has made the calculation that since he took possession of the Pension Office in Kansas, he has paid out a pension of the sum of $2,922,817.52. To distribute this amount he has issued 510,807 checks, and has received in return for the same several years has been a presiding elder in the Methodist Church.

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY A SUCCESS.

Gov. Humphrey has been giving considerable attention to the sugar industry, and the sugar factories which are in operation in this month. Up to the present time the Attica mill has manufactured 100,000 pounds of sugar, which shows a very flattering output. Since Monday last the mill has cut at the rate of 200,000 pounds of sugar a day, and a strike of 15,000 pounds of sugar was made. The company, in making contracts for cane, estimated the yield per acre at not more than twelve tons and the early variety planted at not more than ten, whereas it has run from 15 to 20 tons per acre. The first runs of sugar were not up to the standard wanted, but all subsequent runs have proved to be the very best manufactured from sorghum, testing 98. Better and more satisfactory results have been obtained at this mill than have yet been obtained in the State. The cane shows a richness of saccharine matter that is not met with at any other mill.

AN EDITOR APPOINTED.

Daniel M. Frost has been appointed Registrar of the United States and Office at Garden City to succeed O. F. Miles, who has resigned to go into business in Denver. This is one of the best Federal offices in the State. The editor of the Dodge City Globe, and is one of the pioneers of the State, having settled in Dodge City when the buffalo ranged over the prairies.

ENDORSER PROTESTING.

Judge John Guthrie impounded a Grand Jury yesterday and in charging them as to their duties he directed them to enforce the prohibition law, and to see that the law is strictly enforced. He also directed them to see that the law is strictly enforced.

FOR NEARLY FIVE YEARS there has not been a saloon or any place where intoxicating liquors were openly sold in the way in this county. The law on this subject has been as strictly enforced in this county as in any other county in the State. The law has been as strictly enforced in this county as in any other county in the State.

MAJOR WATSON'S PROPOSITION.

Major Watson has issued a proclamation commanding the people of a market-house proposition to be voted on at the regular election next month. The proposition is to give the people a choice of two sites for a market-house in the sum of $25,000 to build a market-house and city hall on the site that would be the most desirable.

the majority of the vote. The County Board also submitted a proposition to move the court-house from its present site to a donated site in the center of the city, to be voted on at the next election. The people of the year ago voted to build a $100,000 court-house.

MAD DOG VICTIMS.

Manda Barr, the "crazy girl" who was maddened by hydrophobia, the result of the bite of a mad dog last June, has recovered and been taken home by her mother, Merideth, Jefferson County. The physicians think she is permanently cured. Her playmate, George, who was bitten by the same dog, was bitten by the same dog, died of hydrophobia about three weeks ago.

Fort Riley.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., Oct. 19.—It is announced that Fort Riley, which is being made the most military reservation in the nation and upon which over 50,000 men are now being trained, will be the scene of the annual maneuvers of the United States Army next year. It will attract visitors from all parts of the West.

THE QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE KANSAS WESTERN AND CHESAPEAKE RAILROADS.

A large number of the leading commercial men of the State were present. The daily interest in the road is growing rapidly as shown by the Secretary's record.

Polities Lively.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 19.—There has been a campaign in the history of the county in an off year in which so great an interest has been taken. Only county officers are to be elected.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—The Democratic Convention of Wyandotte County, Kan., was held this afternoon. Martin Stewart was nominated for County Treasurer; T. B. Bowling, the present incumbent, for Sheriff; A. A. Love, for County Clerk; and Dr. W. H. Langhorne for Coroner.

Good for Wheat.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

ABILENE, Kan., Oct. 19.—Heavy rains have fallen throughout Central Kansas for forty-eight hours and the growing crops are greatly benefited thereby. The fall returns of the just gathered wheat crop show the average yield in sections to be over twenty-five bushels to the acre, and in some sections nearly thirty-five bushels.

THE Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America celebrates this month the tenth anniversary of the New England Puritan, who had fled from his motherland to escape the persecutions of Laud, and who promptly vindicated his title to a reputation as a lover of civil and religious liberty by persecuting all who sought to plant a steeper, more lofty doctrine on the bleak shores of Massachusetts. In the Puritan mind the English church was inextricably involved in the tyranny of the Stuarts. Nor was he far wrong. Laud was Charles' left arm as Westminster was his right, and in the darkened minds of Cromwell's followers the Old Testament exhortation to bloodshed and revenge was more present than the Gospels' pleadings for forgiveness and peace. A bishop was a reminiscence

CHAPTER XXXIV

There is a growing estrangement between me and myself—and my jealousy doesn't altogether account for it. Sometimes, it occurs to me that we are thinking of what our future relations with Montjoy are likely to be, and are ashamed to confess it to each other. Sometimes—and perhaps this second, and, I suspect, guess may be the right one—I am apt

He burst out laughing. "We will send the maid to get a bit of stamped paper," he said; "I'll write the message for her this time." Those last words alluded to Fanny's ignorance of the French language, which made it necessary to provide her with written instructions when she was sent on an errand, in our domestic affairs. I was able to do this; but in the present case I only handed the message to her. When she returned with a

The horse is about 15 1/2 hands high, bay, with heavy mane and tail. The man gave the name of George Fredericks, and stated that he and a brother brought 125 ponies from Texas a short time ago, which they have disposed of, and that some of the ponies were sold for the horse and vehicle at Canal, Ill.

STANDING upon the top of the mountain Kasigun, which is crowned by the sepulchre of a sainted Mesulman, and looking down into the land subsiding into an open plain, one can easily comprehend why the Arab looks upon "Dimashk" as the "Eye of the Desert," as he calls Damascus, the ancient capital of modern Syria and its surrounding country, as one of the four paradises of the earth, and why the poets have used its fantastic language to find for it an appropriate designation. They have called Damascus the "Nile on the Cheek of the World," the "Pearl of the Orient," the "City with the Fragrance of Paradise," the "Fesoon's Feather," the "Eye of the Desert," the "Necklace of Beauty."

The view is indeed a wonderful one, across the verdant meadows, fields and gardens of the ghuta (plain) in which the city lays as in a bed of elder-down, and which stretches into

It is the River Barada, coming from the Antilibanon, whose clear, perennial waters lead to the ghuta her luxuriant fertility. THE FLIGHT IS ON.

THE WILD DUCK SHOOTING SEASON THAT IS NOW HERE.

When and How the Birds May Be Shot—The Outfit That the Hunter Needs—The Best Hours for Shooting—A Good Dog Necessary—The Use of Decoy—An English Mode of Taking Them.

(Written for the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.)

ARTERIES differ, even in hunting, and therefore a certain class of hunters have not made their appearance as yet, and may be found at odd moments eiling their fowling pieces, while contemplating the present condition of certain pairs of well-worn rubber boots, or calculating in what quantities it would be most economical to purchase ammunition. To such men as these, quail are few charms, indeed, they are rather in-superfluous. They want to hear "something drop" when they fire.

There is a magic sentence, a few words only, which sends the blood tingling. At last the password comes: "The flight is on!" Business may stop, engagements be deferred, but the "flight" comes on as irresistible as fate. If you are not a sportsman, the foregoing may not be quite intelligible; it simply means that the wild ducks have left their summer quarters and are southward bound. It is something wonderful to contemplate. To think of millions of wild ducks almost upon the same day rising from their Northern feeding ground, and making a dash for warmer homes at the rate of eighty to one hundred miles per hour. Down they come like the wind, bringing cold storms and winter in their wake. Surely the news must need fly fast over the wires, and the ardent hunter must be quickly prepared to drop everything and catch the first train to the shooting grounds. "Flight" being

DIFFERENT VARIETIES OF DUCK.

"on" it is as short as it is mighty. Three or four days and there will be but dozens where there were thousands. The slain may now be carried home, while our man of business will resume the even tenor of his way, and return to his club friends those exciting incidents so dear to the heart of every sportsman.

Ducks upon the breaking up of winter fly to the north of the Northwest. This migration is made by easy stages and in small flocks; they feed as they go, making long short passes as the abundance of food warrants. As they feed in ponds and streams, and the aquatic nature of their food renders the flesh strong. By May 1, at least, all have reached their destination, or should any at this time, which begins the breeding season.

The Lady and John L.
New York, Oct. 18.—World is not having been funny if John Lawrence Sullivan had been made a drawing-room attraction by the title of Beason Hill and the Back Bay? That same wealthy and eccentric social leader whose religious enthusiasm caused her to denounce last Lent by driving to church, going down on her knees and kneeling before the altar, and then driving home, has been using her best efforts to pare the lion's claws, draw his teeth and put him through his tricks in a parlor. It seems that on one occasion, memorable to the lady, John L. carried a stopper to the street was crowded with admirers pressing for a sight of the champion, and her carriage was caught in the black and empty street. When Sullivan heard that he was in the vicinity, he hurriedly for the car, came to her horse's head and forced a passage by main strength through the crowd. The lady, who is a woman of letters, and being rich enough to do as she pleases without question the seat for an invitation to her home to the big fellow. Sullivan was puzzled as to his line of action. Perhaps he felt as equal to a drawing room to the halls of Congress, but Boyle O'Reilly told him not to go and he stayed away. If instead he had accepted the invitation, he would have been asked to meet him it would have been decidedly an interesting occasion.

The Ibsen Craze.
Special Correspondence of SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—To all appearances we are going to have an Ibsen craze this winter. The Tolstoy craze of last season in a sense paved the way for enthusiasm over the Swedish realist, and Ibsen classes and possibly Ibsen clubs will shortly be the order of the day. Ibsen's plays have not been put on the stage in New York for an Englishman, so that no such controversy has been aroused as arose among the critics last winter in London. The Ibsen craze is a new phenomenon played in German at the Ambury, and small-sized house of amusement is crowded every evening. It has no situations. It introduces only three or four characters and nothing much happens. The characters are simple folk and talk guardedly like "Ibsen's" people, if only Ibsen's were a simple folk. The Ibsen craze is a new phenomenon, totally unlike anything that has been staged before, and while the basis for them would seem to be an acquired taste, the fact is that it is the fashion to praise them and there is already a small but growing Ibsen school, composed mostly of Ibsen's admirers. It is a new craze, and it is a new craze, and it is a new craze.
